It's That Time Again

Dr. Anthony J. Munoz, President of Central Virginia Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association congratulates James Clarke of San, Leandro, California who won the nationwide contest when his design was chosen as the 1971 Christmas Seal.

Dr. Munoz announced today letters with Christmas Seals were mailed 3,657 business firms, clubs, organizations and special givers in the area served by the Association. He further stated approximately 58,000 letters would be mailed to residents of the area the last of October.

The Annual Christmas Seal Campaign, now in its 65th year, is the major appeal the Christmas Seal Association issues for funds to support the year-round work in the fight against tuberculosis, emphysema, air pollution and other respiratory diseases. The Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association has also become increasingly concerned with the cigarette smoking among children and young adults.

In order to carry on this year-round program the Association engages in day-to-day activities supported entirely by funds received from the Christmas Seal Campaign such as:

Medical Research - to find newer and better ways of treating emphysema, tuberculosis and other respiratory disease and the resultant health problems of air pollution.

Case detection - to help diagnose emphysema, tuberculosis and the other respiratory disease and the resultant health problems of air pollution.

Rehabilitation - for patients in hospitals and for those who are being treated as outpatients, so that they may resume useful and productive lives.

Education - getting the facts about tuberculosis, emphysema, air pollution to the public, so that they may better protect themselves.

Fund Campaign

GLADSTONE - The Gladstone Volunteer Fire Department has opened its annual fund drive. Members are canvassing the area served by the department on a door to door basis.

AMERICAN

MY SECOND ISSUE:

Quality Education

We must take whatever steps are necessary to assure a high quality education for every boy and girl in Virginia. This standard must apply statewide, so that children in rural, agricultural counties like those in our district will receive an education equal to the best anywhere in Virginia.

We must strengthen our public school curricula to better prepare those students who are planning to continue their education beyond high school. And we need strong vocational and technical training to help provide the job skills for those students whose formal education will end with high school.

In the counties of our district the percentage of high school graduates attending college is 38.3 per cent as compared with a 51 per cent state average. This points up the need for vocational and technical training for many of our young people, and emphasizes the important role that our community colleges can play in the life and prosperity of our people.

I pledge my full and untiring efforts to the improvement and strengthening of public education in Virginia.

My opponent in this election voted in the 1971 session of the General Assembly against measures to assure quality education throughout Virginia, and although he claims to have sponsored legislation leading to the establishment of our community colleges, the truth of the matter is that he voted against the measures to provide the funds necessary to bring the community colleges into being.

Do you want to continue his kind of negative reaction to forward-looking legislation, or do you want positive, new leadership in the State Senate in the '70's?

I solicit and will appreciate your vote and support
